ROBING VERSUS MEN.

How do the robins know
When it's time to go?
How can they tell when the day is at hand
To leave their nests and fly
Away to the southern, sunny land,
Where the blue is in the sky?
How do they know
Ere the north winds blow,
Bringing the chill and the ice and snow;
Why do they never foolishly wait,
Flirting with chance and tempting fate?

Ah, the robins are wiser far
Than some men are!
They take no chances nor fool around,
Thinking, because today is fair,
That tomorrow good cheer will still abound,
With never a woe nor care—
Thinking because things come their way
In clusters today
Good luck has settled with them to stay!
The robin proceeds to get out of the wet
While the sun is faithfully shining yet!

THE MAN UNDER THE BED.

BY M. QUAD.

Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.

I had been in Paris for a couple of months, living at a family hotel and knocking about at my leisure, when I made the acquaintance of Felix Duchene, as he called himself. He was a man of about 30, and, though a Frenchman from head to heel, he spoke English fairly well. He was not a man whom I should have selected as a friend, and yet there was a something about him which interested me. He had traveled extensively, met with many adventures and was a good talker. I came to know him as a man of nerve and courage, and, though I feared he would turn out to be a parasite, nothing of the sort happened. He seemed to have plenty of money of his own and never asked for the loan of a franc.

I had known Duchene for three or four weeks when we visited a dance hall on one of the outer boulevards one night. The place was a resort for tough men and bad women and promised a phase of Parisian life I had not yet met. We found a rough crowd indeed, and the evening was not half over when a burly big fellow deliberately picked a quarrel with me. I was giving him the worst of it when he drew a knife and rushed upon me. Duchene, who was standing quietly by, knocked the scoundrel senseless, and, to my surprise, we were not molested by the half dozen friends of the victim who had been urging him to finish me. I came to know later on that the whole thing was a put up job, but I looked upon it then as a brave action on the part of my acquaintance and gave him my gratitude and friendship. I had never questioned him as to why he was in Paris, where or how he lived or what aim he had in life, and he had never dropped a hint. I had a secret belief that he was a gambler and a sharper, but to me he was as straightforward as could be hoped for. About two weeks after the event at the dance hall Duchene told me his story, or a part of it. He was a professional gambler, or had been up to a few months before he met me. Then his eyesight had gone back on him and he had been obliged to abandon the business. I had observed that he was nearsighted and had been obliged to favor his eyes.

A year before meeting me Duchene and a partner had "roped" a rich young fellow into a game and skinned him out of what would be about $50,000 in American money. They were then occupying rooms in a certain house he indicated, and, fearing trouble from the victim, who had declared himself defrauded, the money had been hidden under the floor. Trouble came. Both men were arrested, and, while Duchene got a year in prison, the other man died of pneumonia while waiting his trial. On leaving prison Duchene at once took steps to secure his money, but found the floor in possession of an artificial flower maker who held a lease. The place could not be entered and searched, and the $50,000 still rested beneath the floor of the front room. It would take $1,500 to buy the lease and oust the flower maker and another $500 to put in a stock of something to throw the police off the scent. Duchene could not raise the money, nor had he yet met a man he dared trust. His proposition to me was that I furnish the $2,000 and receive $10,000 of the hidden money as my reward. Had he offered to go halves I think I should have looked upon it as a "plant" and thrown it over, but in offering me a sixth portion he seemed to show good business tact. It was a big return on the investment—big enough to satisfy any one—and I gave him a favorable answer at once. He had already sounded the flower maker as to the lease, and if my money was raised the papers could be signed three days later. I had a good bit of cash at my bankers, and on the second day after hearing Duchene's story I drew out $2,000 in gold and placed the bag in my trunk. Next day the papers were to be signed, and a week later the floor would be in our possession.

That night the two of us attended the theater and afterward had supper, and I haven't the slightest doubt that my wine was drugged. While I was not made helpless, my head seemed as big as a barrel. I could hardly keep my eyes open, and if Duchene had not put me in a cab and instructed the driver I should never have found my way to the hotel. I had to be helped to my room, and I fell upon the bed, dressed as I was, and was instantly asleep. I had been asleep two hours when I awoke as keen as a fox. The effects of the drug had vanished, and as I got out of bed to undress I found my legs all right again. I was fully undressed and ready to get between the sheets when my ear caught a sound from under the bed. I at once stooped down for a look, and my eyes rested upon a man lying on the broad of his back. I had him out in a second. It seemed to me as if I had five times my ordinary strength, and, though the fellow struggled furiously and cut my arm with a knife, I grasped his throat and choked him till he lay like one dead. It was only when I had struck a light that I found the intruder to be Duchene. He had come in through the window which opened on a veranda. He had been working at the lock of my trunk when I made some noise on awakening, and he had rolled himself under the bed. He had come for that bag of gold, and he had meant to do for me if necessary.

I alarmed the house, the police were sent for, and the fellow was taken away, but it was a good hour before he recovered his senses. His story was entirely false, and he had put up a job to rob me. It was my testimony that gave him five years in prison, but after it was all over and he had been sent away I was a bit sorry for him. He could tell a good story, had a laugh which made you laugh with him, and few men of his class in Paris or elsewhere could order a better dinner. He was not a grasping man withal. He had planned to rob me of $2,000 where another would have raised the figure to $5,000.

The Gentle Art of Letter Writing.

The classic age of letter writing, like that of chivalry, is gone, although no Burke has been found yet to utter its splendid funeral oration. Correspondence on business, hurried notes containing invitations to dinner or acceptances thereof—these are the missives which fill the bag of the letter carrier. The love letter, we presume, still holds its sway, and, if we are to judge from the revelations of breach of promise cases, it is full of sugary sentimentalism as in the days of Lydia Languish. But the letter as it has passed into literature, the letter whose highest claim to be treated as art is that it conceals art, the letter as written by William Cowper, or Oliver Goldsmith, or Horace Walpole, or Miss Burney—that charming epistle intended only for the affectionate perusal of friends and yet of such value to the historian of life and manners—shall we say that it has disappeared from the busy modern world, killed by the "railway and the steamship and the thoughts that shake mankind?" As least, it is now but a rare product, a fragile flower scarcely able to maintain itself in our altered social soil.

Correspondence from being a cherished art and solace has in our day tended to become what is called in slang a "grind." It is "snippety," like the cheap newspapers, a sort of "bits" or "cuts," giving hints which require to be filled out, only that the receiver has hardly time for that mental process. Truth to tell, a great deal of our letter writing is boredom, the source of irritation and weariness to those who are called on to undertake it.—London Spectator.

From Fingers to Forks.

In olden times fingers served well enough to convey food to the mouth, and a divided gourd was an acceptable drinking vessel, but when fashionable aspirations seized our ancestors they scorned these implements of nature, and even the Pacific islanders pulled their hair, of which they had a generous abundance, in their anxiety to devise more seemly methods. They finally manufactured forks that looked like skewers, and out of the bamboo they manufactured knives. The Indians, proverbially slow in adopting modern ways, still eat without knives or forks, although they have permitted the use of spoons. These were first made of shells and the rinds of gourds. Later handles were inserted, and, having passed numerous stages, knives, forks and spoons have reached the present elaborately ornamented kinds now in general use.

The cup is probably the most ancient of all domestic utensils. Its earliest form was simply the half closed hand or the folded leaf. Then followed cups made of sea shells or rinds of fruit cut in halves. Later appeared cups of metal, lacquer and china. For centuries the cup has been made the expression of art and luxury, and the most precious metals, combined with the artisan's most consummate skill, are now commonly employed in their manufacture.—Baltimore Sun.

The Number 4.

There are four cardinal points, four winds, four quarters of the moon, four seasons, four figures in the quadrille, four rules of arithmetic, four suits of cards, four quarters to the hour, four legs for furniture, most animals go on four legs, the dead are placed between four planks, the prisoners between four walls. We have four incisor and four canine teeth, and our forks have four prongs; all animals, when butchered, are cut into four quarters; the violin, greatest of all string instruments, has but four strings; four of a kind is a pretty good hand at poker even if they are only fours.—Exchange.

A Modern Polonius.

"My son," said the fond but wise parent, "you are leaving me to go out into the world. I have nothing to give you but advice. Never tell a lie. If you wish to put one in circulation, get it published. A lie cannot live, but it takes one a blamed long time to fade out of print.

"Always read your contract. A man might consider he was getting a sinecure if he were offered a position picking blossoms off a century plant; but, you see, he wouldn't have a remunerative occupation if he were paid on piecework.

"Be not overcritical. Even the most ordinary sort of a genius can tell when the other fellow is making a fool of himself.

"Remember that the young man, like the angler's worm, is rather better for being visibly alive.

"Be careful in the choice of your surroundings. Environment will do a great deal for a man. For example, flour and water in a china jug is cream sauce. In a pail on the sidewalk it is billsticker's paste.

"Don't forget that there's a time for everything and that everything should be done in its proper time. Never hunt for bargains in umbrellas on a rainy day.

"You may make enemies. If you know who they are, don't mention them. Silence is golden. It saves the money that might otherwise be spent in defending a libel suit. If you don't know who they are—well, abuse lavished on a concealed enemy is like charity indiscriminately bestowed; it's a good thing wasted."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

How Blaine Remembered Henderson.

It was before General Henderson had been elected to congress, and Blaine was speaker of the house. Henderson was in Washington, and naturally Blaine was one of the statesmen that he much desired to meet, and the opportunity came of a morning just as the speaker was passing through the lobby on his way to the marble rostrum. The formal greetings were exchanged in a brief moment, and General Henderson was left to see the swinging doors close on the form of the Republican leader.

Six years later General Henderson again came to Washington, this time to get Iowa divided into two judicial districts. He put up at Wormley's, where Blaine also lived, it being in those days a fashionable and flourishing hostelry. A week or so after his arrival from Iowa, as General Henderson was entering the dining room, he met Blaine after having passed and repassed him many times. The Maine man grasped him cordially by the hand, called him by name and inquired about Iowa.

"I had heard of Senator Blaine's wonderful faculty for remembering names," says General Henderson. "When I had seated myself at the table, I beckoned to the head waiter.

"'Hasn't Mr. Blaine asked you my name?' I said to him. 'Now think hard and be sure of your answer.'

"'Yes, sah,' replied the waiter. 'He done called me ovah las' night an asked yo' name an all about yo'. I told him yo' was Mistah Henderson.'"—Washington Post.

The Prophecy Fulfilled.

"The late editor's wife is something of a humorist."

"Indeed!"

"Yes. Took a line from his original salutatory and placed it on his tombstone."

"What was it?"

"'We are here to stay!'"—Atlanta Constitution.

Insects as Human Food.

Professor Riley showed that our prairie locust made a delicious dish when fried, and he always contended that there were numerous insects that were just as wholesome as oysters. In New Zealand a large grub, or, as Americans say, a "worm," is found in dead timber and is as eagerly sought for as we seek for mushrooms. They call the worm huhu.—Meehan's Monthly.

Collapse.

Caused by overwork? No, caused by undernourishment. Work rarely causes collapse. It is worry—the outcome of a low condition of the nervous system and inadequate nutrition which generally causes collapse. The collapse seems sudden, but in reality it is a slow process. The stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased, the nourishment in the food eaten is only partially extracted and imperfectly assimilated. The blood becomes impure; the very fount of life is poisoned, and some day all the faculties and functions go on a strike. That's collapse. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition, purifies the blood and builds up the weak body with sound healthy flesh.

"I was cured of a very bad case of indigestion, associated with torpid liver, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mr. G. B. Bird, of Byrnside, Putnam Co., W. Va. "Before I began the use of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I had no appetite; could not sleep, nor work but very little, bowels constipated, and life was a misery to me. After taking four bottles I felt so well that I went to work, but soon got worse, so I used it about eight weeks longer, when I was permanently cured."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay cost of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper covered book, or 31 stamps for cloth, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE cannery question remains about the same as last week. The Rose cannery people are as yet undecided whether to accept the offer made by Sonoma or take the bonus promised by Petaluma. As our sister town is richer than Sonoma, the chances are that she can have the cannery if she really wants it. There is one consolation, however, for the Sonoma Board of Trade and that is this: The Rose Cannery can go to Petaluma but Sonoma's proposition still remains with her people and can be offered to some other cannery concern.

THE OBSERVER.

THE SOCIETY PROBLEM. (A Fable.)

The Bluejays were really society leaders among the birds. They gave some of the most delightful hops and in every branch of society outdid all others of the feathered tribe.

The other birds thought it unfair for the Bluejays to have such pretensions and so one day Mrs. Yellowhammer took it upon herself to summon an indignation meeting in order to present some new schemes and ideas of society reform. The Lark, Linnet, Woodpecker, Blackbird, Crow and Parrot all presented themselves at the appointed time and were twitting merrily when Mrs. Yellowhammer appeared and silenced the company. She began by saying that she had visions of a social Utopia where all would be on an equal par in society—where there would be no cliques or clans or little exclusive circles.

"I believe in harmony among the birds," said she. Here we are all living together in the same little dell, skimming the same air, dipping in the same brook, singing on the same branch and yet the Bluejays draw the line. I say let us be one. Miss Linnet, do you know why the Bluejays object to you?"

Miss Linnet cleared her throat and thus began:

"They say I am too much of a fledgling, but to tell you the truth I think I'd be too much of a rival. Bob O'Link might fancy me—you notice my eyes are quite bright."

"Well, Miss Woodpecker, why do they object to you?"

"They say I'm a 'knocker' and that queers me," replied the slangy bird and they all laughed and Miss Parrot chipped in:

"I talk too much to suit Mrs. Bluejay, but I wouldn't be in her set if she asked me. She says I am green with envy. Ha! ha! you all know better. But say, Miss Crow, you are no better off than I. Why can't you get in?"

"Yes, tell us," insisted Mrs. Yellowhammer."

Miss Crow sat up straight and in mournful tone proceeded to tell the cause of her exclusion.

'They tell me I'm a gloomy soul, besides I don't believe in some of the frivolities they indulge in. Mrs. Bluejay got angry at me because I sent word that I had a bone to pick with her."

Examination into the whys and wherefores of the non-admittance of certain birds to the exclusive set went on.

Miss Lark said they objected to her because she flew too high and besides she got up too early in the morning to be fashionable.

Miss Blackbird explained that she was not eligible because she banqueted once with Miss Crow and the Turkeybuzzard family.

"Well it appears," continued Mrs. Yellowhammer, "that the objections are all trival and there is really no reason why we all should not become members of one and the same society. I will speak to Mrs Bluejay and may be we can come to some understanding and arrange for a harmonious series of social gatherings this season."

The birds congratulated Mrs. Yellowhammer on her new scheme and flew off to their nests happy in the thought of an approaching elysium. Mrs. Yellowhammer was left alone to scratch her golden head and to hit upon a plan for uniting the waring social elements of her community.

London dramatic critics have been crowing over the eighty-night run of Stephen Phillips' new poetic classic drama. With the exception of Shakespeare it has been a long time since such a work of art has been as well patronized in æsthetic London. Stephen Phillips is a poet of the highest order and there is little doubt but that his work will pass through this period of contemporary appreciation, tide over the period of critical reaction and eventually become a classic. The poet is not always a dramatist but in the case of Phillips all his dramas play well. As a poet one cannot eulogize by means of words but readers are referred to his "Marpessa" which is a beautiful composite of the Phillips art.

The cruel butchery of little Robert Hislop in San Francisco should fire the indignation of every citizen and stir the heart of every human being. Terrible crimes are recorded from time to time, but when helpless innocence with the kiss of a mother fresh on its lips is violated, it is time for us to rise up and urge the apprehension and punishment of the inhuman fiend. Who is safe when creatures of such instinct are abroad? Where are our children secure when the hearth is desecrated?

Passing of Grandma Thiessen.

Mrs. Meta Thiessen, affectionately known to all the old residents of this valley as Grandma Thiessen, died at the residence of her daughter Mrs. P. N. Stofen, 1400 Hyde street, San Francisco, last Wednesday.

The deceased resided for many years with Capt. and Mrs. Stofen at Embarcadero, and left here with the Captain and his family when they removed to Santa Rosa about fourteen years ago.

Deceased recently inherited a large fortune by the death of a relative in Germany, which will now pass to Mrs. Stofen.

Grandma Thiessen was a native of Barmsted, Germany, and had reached the ripe old age of 85 years and 4 months.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the Stofen residence, the remains being interred in the Odd Fellows Cemetery.

The formula is plainly printed on every bottle—hence you know just what you are taking when you take Grove's. Any reliable druggist will tell you that Grove's is the Original and that all other so-called Tasteless Chill Tonics are imitations. An analysis of other chill tonics shows that Grove's is superior to all others in every respect. Wm. Trudeau, the stone cutter of this place, who has several large building contracts in Napa, is threatened with the loss of an eye. About a month ago while hewing stone he was struck on the eye ball by a flying chip from the stone he was cutting. The injury has all but destroyed the sight of the eye. He is under the care of an oculist of San Francisco.

On Friday of last week at a special meeting of the Sonoma High School Trustees it was decided to call a meeting of the Trustees of the various school districts comprising the Union High School of this valley for the purpose of considering the proposition to employ three teachers in the High School. This move is made in the interest of our principal educational institution and it is thought by many to be essential to its future usefulness.

Chief Officer Henke of the U. S. transport Sheridan was the guest of Adam Adler last Monday and Tuesday. Accompanying him was a seven-year old Filipino boy, who was discovered aboard the big ship several days after she sailed from Manila bound for San Francisco. The youngster, who was alone in the world, appeared in the camp of the Forty-third infantry during one of its marches on the island of Luzon and for fourteen months was the mascot of the regiment. When the men of the Forty-third boarded the Sheridan at Manila to return to the United States the youngster sneaked on board and went into hiding. Chief Officer Henke took a fancy to the little fellow, who is remarkably bright and active, and he is now a general favorite on board the transport.

In the inner circles of fast pacers Joe Patchen has a high place. Whether started in a race against time he is the same desperate fighter, never letting up in his speed from the time he gets the word till he goes under the wire. Joe Patchen is not a one-day pacer; he can be depended upon to go a fast mile whenever called upon.

It would be a good thing for buyers of harness if they kept these qualities in mind when buying harness. If they did, they would not buy any old harness that happened along, but would stock up on Wilson's.

After fifteen years of trial, the public has found that he can always be depended upon. Like Joe Patchen, he is a stayer, is always the same, and is sure to give the highest satisfaction, therefore he enjoys the confidence of the people. It pays dealers to sell a high class article that will please their customers. Every harness that he sells will make a new friend or keep an old one. Therefore when in need of anything in the harness line call on Chas. H. Wilson, 920 Main street, Petaluma, where will be found a full selection of harness, whips, robes, sponges, oil, etc. *

THEY WERE OUT ALL NIGHT.

What Happened to Four Salvation Army Lassies.

Four young Salvation Army women bound from Napa to Petaluma in a two-seated rig, on Tuesday last, got off the main traveled road and when night overtook them they lost their bearings completely, and to add to their discomfiture the harness broke and they could go no further. The plight of the lassies was discovered by Constable Ohm at 2 o'clock in the morning. The officer had been on a man hunt in the tules south of Schellville and was returning home when he accidently ran across the party of ladies. They were on a road leading to the Jones ranch and were waiting for daylight to help them out of their dilemma. Officer Ohm, after repairing the broken harness guided the Salvation Army ladies to his hospitable home at Embarcadero, where they were taken in and cared for by Mrs. Ohm.

TEACHERS' CLUB.

Educators of the Valley Organize.

The teachers of the nine school districts embraced in the Sonoma Valley Union High School met yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Sonoma Grammar School and organized a Teachers' Club, the membership of which will embrace all the teachers in the Sonoma Valley. The object of the club is mutual improvement and the advancement and unification of educational work.

The following teachers took part in the organization: Miss Elizabeth Rainey, Hiuchica; Miss Margaret Burke, San Luis; O. P. Paulstine, Harvey; Miss Angie Gray, Flowery; Miss Blanche Smith, Dunbar; Miss Julia Carsin, Enterprise; Miss Lattie Howard, Glen Ellen; Miss White, Kenwood; Miss Louisa Cluver, Reclamation; Miss Humphreys, Miss Murphy, Miss Cook and Messrs. Ben Weed and W. O. Hocker, Sonoma.

Sequel to an Accident.

Jo Mascioroni, the well-known dairyman of Sears' Point, was taken to San Francisco on Thursday of last week for medical treatment. He was so ill he had to be carried aboard the cars on a stretcher.

About six years ago Mr. Mascioroni while driving a mowing machine was badly hurt by the horses running away and throwing him underneath the machine, the sharp knives of which cut and badly lacerated the flesh about the hips. He was conveyed to a hospital in San Francisco and for a time his life was despaired of. The wounds healed and he ultimately recovered. Lately the old wounds began troubling him and last week alarming symptoms set in, with the result that it was with the greatest difficulty he could be taken to San Francisco for treatment. At latest accounts Mr. Mascioroni was improving.

W. J. Box Dead.

W. J. Box, brother of the late Allen Box, who died recently in Bakersfield and was buried in Mountain Cemetery in this place, has gone to join his brother. He expired at his home in Tulare county last Sunday. The Box family, consisting of father, mother, and four boys and five or six girls, formerly resided near Glen Ellen. They moved away from here years ago, the only member of the family remaining being Mrs. Joel Zane. Mrs. Chas. White, Mrs. F. M. Johnson of Santa Rosa and Mrs. Guthrie of Tulare county are also sisters of deceased. Mr. Box was a widower and two children survive him.

"A SMOOTHIE."

How He Worked Off Bogus Jewelry.

The Petaluma Argus notes the arrival in that city of a well dressed and respectable looking elderly gent, who took in a number of people in that town by disposing of a quantity of cheap jewelry. The Argus says his plan was to drop a glove when unobserved and pick it up when some one was looking. In the glove he would invariably find a gold ring which he would offer to sell for $1.50. He sold a number of rings in this manner.

The same individual made his advent in this town Monday evening. He wore eye-glasses and looked to be anything but a sharper. He adopted another method of "raising the wind" in this place. He would drop into a saloon and throwing a quarter on the counter would invite the barkeeper to join him in "a smile." Having paved his way into the good graces of the saloon man, he would take out of his pocket an imitation gold watch and ask the loan of $7.50 on the time piece, explaining that he had money in the Sonoma Valley Bank, which he would draw out the next morning and repay the $7.50 and $1 additional for the accommodation. He also endeavored to borrow $3 or $4 on rings worth about 50 cents a dozen. He tried his little game on a number of saloon men here, but just how many "suckers" he caught has not yet leaked out. He hooked two, however, that we know of.

MRS. C. AGUILLON DEAD.

Resided in this City Over Thirty-Five Years.

Mrs. C. S. Aguillon, wife of C. Aguillon, the well-known wine-maker and one of Sonoma's oldest and most prominent citizens, is dead. She passed away at her home in this place last Saturday after a prolonged illness. The cause of death was apoplexy and paralysis.

Mrs. Aguillon located in this place with her husband, who survives her, in 1865, and was highly respected for her many excellent traits of character. Mrs. Gabrielle Heggie and the Misses E. and B. Aguillon of this city are daughters of the deceased.

Mrs. Aguillon was a native of Gap, France, and aged 65 years.

The remains were laid to rest Monday in Mountain Cemetery.

Capt. Hauto's Schooner Service.

The schooner "Four Sisters" plying between Embarcadero and San Francisco, Capt. J. P. Hauto, master, is now making three trips to San Francisco weekly. The schooner leaves the Lower Landing, Sonoma creek, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays for the metropolis, the return trips being made on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Large quantities of fruit, wine, hay and other produce are shipped to San Francisco weekly by the "Four Sisters," which is a competitor of the California Northwestern and the Southern Pacific for the freight business of Sonoma Valley.

Mervyn Hotel Changes Hands.

A. R. Harrison, for many years proprietor of the Mervyn Hotel, Glen Ellen, has sold out that popular resort to J. Chauvet. The hotel and grounds have been leased for a term of years to an experienced hotel man. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, as soon as their business affairs are settled up will leave Glen Ellen and engage in business elsewhere. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison have many friends in this valley who will regret their leave-taking.

EARLY MORNING BLAZE.

Mrs. Robt. Douglas Burned About the Face.

Thursday morning last the Dunkel cottage off Broadway, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Douglas, caught fire from a defective stove pipe. The fire started on the roof of the dwelling and was discovered by G. B. Graham, a near-by neighbor. With the help of Mrs. Douglas, her husband being absent at the time, the fire was extinguished with difficulty, but not before considerable of the roof had burned away.

In combatting the flames from the interior of the house Mrs. Douglas had her face badly but not seriously burned.

Had not Mr. Graham happened on the scene just in the nick of time, the house would have burned to the ground. The loss will be between $50 and $100.

Death of Josephine Kiser.

Miss Josephine Kiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kiser, died at the home of her parents near this place Wednesday last. She had been ailing but a few days and her death was quite sudden, the cause being rheumatism of the heart.

She leaves a father, mother, three brothers and two sisters, the latter being Miss Tillie Kiser and a married sister residing in Switzerland, the brothers are Albert, Conrad and Nick Kiser, all residing in this valley.

Miss Kiser was born in Sarner, Obwalden, Switzerland, and was aged 31 years 7 months and 25 days. She had resided here 17 years.

The funeral took place yesterday from St. Francis' Church, the remains being followed to the Catholic Cemetery by a large concourse of relatives and friends.

Arrest of a Tough.

Joe Frazer, one of the toughest of the tough, was arrested in the northern suburbs of town last Tuesday and charged with disturbing the peace. Previous to being taken into custody he got drunk and raised Cain in several of the saloons. The arrest was made by Constable Ohm with some difficulty. When the officer told Frazer he was under arrest he exclaimed: "What did ye soy?" and forthwith proceeded to resist the Constable. He was secured, however, and taken before Judge Small, who gave the fellow fifteen days in the County Jail.

Judge Gibson swallowed a fish-bone last Monday. It lodged in the throat, which became badly swoolen and inflamed. Drs. Crepin and Rich were called in and for a time the offending fish bone baffled the combined skill of the physicians to remove it. Finally it was dislodged from the throat, but not before the Judge had suffered great agony. He is now reported to be recovering from a very sore throat.

Miss Brown of Oakland has been the guest of the Justi's.

At the Railroad Employees picnic to be held at Glen Ellen Park, next Thursday, Mrs. A. E. Osborne of the Glen Ellen Home will present a mammoth cake to the best cake walker on the ground. The cake will measure four feet across.

J. Chauvet is importing from France an olive oil press of the latest model. This is only one of the many improvements and enterprises introduced by this progressive and public-spirited gentleman. Glen Ellen's debt to him is unestimable for without doubt he has done more than any other one man to promote the interests of this place and to attract settlers.

Wm. A. Hilton, the only son of Wm. H. Hilton, formerly of Glen Ellen, died in Berkeley on May 27th, aged 23 years. Mr. Hilton was a graduate of the University of California and an assistant instructor at the time of his death. He was a young man of fine personality and but recently attended the Senior ball, when he was in the best of health. His death was due to pneumonia.

A Nice Family Mix Up.

A widower with a number of small children married a widow who was similarly blessed. In due time the newly married couple added to the number. Hearing a voice in the yard one day, the father went out to see what was the matter.

"Well, what was it?" asked his wife as he returned out of breath.

"Your children and my children were quarreling with our children," was the reply.—London Answers.

Won.

"Dear," said young Mrs. Jellus, "I thought you ought to know. There's a married man who is violently in love with me."

"What?" he cried. "Who is he?"

"If I tell you, will you give me those earrings I wanted?"

"Yes. Who is it?"

"You."—Philadelphia Press.

Beardless Soldiers.

Modern warriors generally wear hair on their frontispieces. It is thought to give them a martial appearance. But Alexander's invincible soldiers were all bare faced. He compelled them to shave for a sufficient reason—viz, lest the "outside barbarians" of Asia should seize them by their beards and so capture them.

Laconic Justice.

"Why did you shoot the plaintiff's dog?"

"Because he tried to bite me."

"Even a dog is entitled to a fair trial. You should only have tried to shoot him. Twenty-five dollars."—Exchange.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR.

"Something New Under the Sun."

All Doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, acid, gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucuous membranes, causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH, has at last perfected a Treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently curres CATARRH, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "SNUFFLES the GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE" and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external med cine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

"SNUFFLES" is the only perfect CATARRH CURE ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying and disgusting disease. It cures all inflammation quickly and permanently and is also wonderfully quick to relieve HAY FEVER or COLD in the HEAD.

CATARRH when neglected often leads to CONSUMPTION—"SNUFFLES" will save you if you use it at once. It is no ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure CATARRH in any form or stage if used according to directions which acompany each package. Don't delay but send for it at once, and write full particulars as to your condition, and you will receive special advice from the discoverer of this wonderful remedy regarding your case without cost to you beyond the regular price of "SNUFFLES" the "GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE.

Sent prepaid to any address in the United States or Canada on the receipt of One Dollar. Address: Dept. E 428, EDWIN B. GILES & COMPANY, 2330 and 2332 Market street, Philadelphia.

For Nearly Two Years Unable to Lay in Bed

"In my capacity as druggist, in Buffalo, N. Y., I have the best opportunity to judge of the merits of many different remedies. I am in close touch with the sick, who come into my store for medicines, and most of them tell me how they are getting along. Of all the hundreds of preparations which I sell, not a single one begins to give as much satisfaction as Acker's English Remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Pleurisy and Consumption. I sell it on a distinct guarantee that it will cure, or the purchaser's money will be returned. This is a perfectly safe guarantee, because the remedy does cure. Nobody wants his money returned. Its cures are nothing short of marvelous. Take the case of Mr. A. H. Gilbert, for instance. He lives at No. 5 Carey street, Buffalo, N. Y. For more than three years he had a bad case of asthma, and had been unable to lie down in bed for nearly two years. He came to my store and asked me what to do. I said: 'Take Acker's English Remedy.' He said he had tried other remedies and didn't think this would help him. But he thinks differently now. Three bottles fixed his asthma all right. He could sleep and eat after taking them, as well as when a boy. He was cured several months ago, and is well yet, so I am certain his trouble is gone for good. You can write to Mr. Gilbert himself, if you doubt my word." He will go further than me in praising Acker's English Remedy." (Signed) S. B. THORNE, druggist, Buffalo, N.Y.

Sold at 25c., 50c. and $1 a bottle, throughout the United States and Canada; and in England, at 1s. 2d., 2s. 3d., 4s. 6d. If you are not satisfied after buying, return the bottle to your druggist, and get your money back.

Fished For Its Dinner.

"Looking over my neighbor's fence one day," says a lover of animals, "I was surprised to see on his doorstep these queer companions: A beautiful white sea gull and my neighbor's pet cat sitting quietly together.

"Becoming interested, I jumped the fence and asked Jones about his feathered pet. He told me that some boys had shot the gull a few days before and broken its wing, and as they were passing his house he noticed the poor, suffering thing and bought it. He bandaged the broken wing, and the gull, seeming to understand his kind intentions, became quite tame and nestled its pretty head against his hand.

"Jones entertained me by showing how the gull usually took his meals. Bringing a plate of oysters and a fork, he called 'Goosey, goosey, goosey!' and the bird came running to him. Then he held out an oyster on the fork and the gull seized it quickly with its yellow bill and ate it as demurely as if oysters had been served to it in this way all of its days.

"The oddest thing occurred one day when my neighbor gave the gull some small pieces of meat for dinner. He placed the meat on the ground near the gull, but the gull, espying a pan of water near by, took the meat piece by piece and, walking over, dropped it into the water. Then, true to its nature, it began fishing for its dinner."—Christian Advocate.

Our Last Cargo of Slaves.

Captain Foster was the commander of the slave ship Clotilda that brought the last cargo of slaves to the United States. The trip was made only after many thrilling scenes requiring weeks of skillful maneuvering and dangerous exploits. Just before the north and south engaged in war Captain Foster built the Clotilda and announced that he would make a trip to the gulf of Guinea despite the fact that United States war vessels had burned and sunk the ships of many who tried the voyage. He was warned repeatedly of the dangers attached to such an undertaking, but he equipped his ship and sailed away.

He reached the African coast after going out of his course many times and remained along the coast for a month. He succeeded in getting 100 negroes on board before he was detected by the watchful vessels of the United States. He was pursued, but easily outdistanced his pursuers, and two months later arrived in Mobile bay with his human cargo. A steamboat met the slaveship during the night, and the negroes were transferred in order to avoid the custom house officials. Captain Foster set his vessel on fire and passed through Mobile without being detected. The government authorities hunted for him for months, but he eluded them until the close of the war, when he retired from the sea.

Tipping the Butcher.

Did you ever buy your own steaks and get the worst in the shop nearly every time? An old friend has had that misfortune, and he is always willing to pay two or three cents more a pound than any other customer. Having listened calmly to his tale of woe, I inquired if he had acquired the practice of tipping the butcher. Tipping the butcher? No! He thought it was a sufficient tip to offer the two or three cents more a pound. "That offer," I tried to explain, "goes to the proprietor direct, or his block man thinks you are trying to make a thief of him by inducing him to hold out for himself the extra price. It will never work.

"Just say to your cutter: 'See here, old chap, I've been dissatisfied with my steaks for some time. Come out and take a drink, and tell me how to select good meat.' He's too busy. Then slip a dime into his hand and say, 'Have a glass of beer when you get out,' or a quarter and say, 'Have a smile with me when you have time.' Repeat this performance and presently your steaks are the delight of home. In the busiest private market in New York it is the rule to tip the butchers. You can get nothing fit to eat without it."—New York Press.

Not an Educated Dog.

In the "Floresta Espanola" of Melchior de Santa Cruz the author has an anecdote of Cardinal Pedro Goncalez. That prelate noticed that one of the priests in his retinue, a Biscayan, carried a short sword under his cloak. The cardinal reproved him and told him that it was wrong for a cleric to carry arms. The Biscayan replied that he carried the weapon to defend himself if he were attacked by a dog. The cardinal said that in case he saw a dog running at him he should begin to recite from the gospel of St. John. The priest acknowledged that this was a good way, but held to the dagger, "because there are some dogs who do not understand Latin."

Two Ways of Writing.

Mrs. Bibbs—I declare! You men can't write a letter unless you have a regular desk and office chair and big blotting pad and I don't know what all.

Mr. Bibbs—Yes, and a woman may have a $200 writing desk, with everything to match, and yet she'll sit down on a stool and write on an old book.—New York Weekly.

Made Sure of the Pie.

A young girl who carried her dinner was observed to eat her pie first. When asked why, she replied, "Well, if there's anything left it won't be the pie, will it now?"—Boston Christian Register.

The typical Moro is never unarmed. He fights equally well on foot, on horseback, in his fleet war canoe or in the water, for he swims like a fish and dives like a penguin.

A Few Pointers.

The recen statistics of the number of deaths show that the large majority die of consumption. This disease may commence with an apparently harmless cough which can be cured instantly by Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, which is guaranteed to cure and relieve all cases. Price 25c and 50c. For sale by all druggists.

Origin of the Yosemite Valley.

It is perfectly obvious to those familiar with glacial phenomena that Yosemite is quite an ordinary and necessary product of glacial erosion under the conditions prevailing in that locality. The main glacier came down Tenaya canyon, cutting it to a steep but fairly uniform grade. Yosemite valley is but a continuation of that gorge. The end of the glacier at the time that it was cutting Yosemite extended not far beyond Fort Monroe. It remained there for a long time and therefore plowed out the bottom of the valley to a considerable depth. Branch glaciers joined the Tenaya glacier when it filled Yosemite, coming down the valleys of Yosemite, Little Yosemite, Illilouette and Bridal Veil and other creeks and forming hanging valleys at the junction points. The formation of the vertical cliffs of the valley may have been due to undermining and may have been aided by the cleavage of the rocks. On the recession of the glacier doubtless the bottom of the valley was occupied by a lake which has since been partially filled by detritus and drained by the erosion of Merced river cutting through the rock wall at the foot of the valley. —National Geographic Magazine.

Reaching an Understanding.

The young man was visibly annoyed at the questions which the heiress' father insisted on putting. At last he could endure it no longer. His ancestral pride flamed up into his cheeks, and he exclaimed:

"I would have you understand that I am no ordinary fortune hunter."

"That's all right," was the stern rejoinder. "I am just as particular as you are. I'd have you understand that I am no plain, everyday duke chaser either."—Washington Star.

THE RIGHT THING TO PUT ON.

(Benson's Plaster is Pain's Master.)

From the natural impulse to "put something on" a painful spot all applications for the relief of pain have arisen.

The most successful have ever been poultices or plasters, and the best of these is Benson's Porous Plaster.

No other has anything like the same power as a curative agent; it is highly and scientifically medicated, and its standard is advanced year by year.

Use Benson's Plaster for coughs, colds, chest diseases, rheumatism, grip, neuralgia, kidney trouble, lame back, and other ailments that make Winter a season of suffering and danger. It relieves and cures quicker than any other remedy.

Do not accept Capsicum, Strengthening or Belladonna plasters in place of Benson's, as they possess none of its curative power. Insist on having the genuine.

The people of every civilized land have testified for years to the superlative merit of Benson's Plasters; and 5,000 physicians and druggists of this country have declared them worthy of public confidence.

In official comparisons with others, Benson's Plasters have been honored with fifty-five highest awards.

For sale by all druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States on the receipt of 25c. each. Accept no imitation or substitute.

Seabury & Johnson, Mfg. Chemists, N.Y.

Mr. W. S. Whedon, Cashier of the First National Bank of Winterset, Iowa, in a recent letter gives some experience with a carpenter in his employ, that will be of value to other mechanics. He says: "I had a carpenter working for me who was obliged to stop work for several days on account of being troubled with diarrhoea. I mentioned to him that I had been similarly troubled and that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy had cured me. He bought a bottle of it from the druggist here and informed me that one dose cured him, and he is again at his work." For sale by F. Duhring. *

A Sprained Ankle Quickly Cured.

"At one time I suffered from a severe sprain of the ankle," says Geo. E. Cary, editor of the Guide, Washington, Va. Sold by F. Duhring. *

A Minister's Mistake.

A city minister was recently handed a notice to be read from his pulpit. Accompanying it was a clipping from a newspaper bearing upon the matter. The clergyman started to read the extract and found that it began: "Take Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure." This was hardly what he expected and, after a moment's hesitation, he turned it over, and found on the other side the matter intended for the reading.
